A Note from Your Chronicler

Pennsic is at the end of the month and I know I am excited to go back after 3 years (last one was in 2019). Looking at Pennsic 49.2 I have been planning the performing arts track now for 3 years and I am happy that it is finally happening. One thing everyone should know is that you need to make sure that you keep hydrated. There will not be communal watering holes, I always had one in the Performing Arts tent every year, this is a Covid protection thing I am not allowed out put out our water coolers. Plan to always have water or some other hydration drink with you. Another hot Pennsic is coming up.

I look forward to seeing everyone there, I suspect it will be a good one and next year will be Pennsic 50... imagine that.

Yours in Service, Story, and Song,

Lady Scholastica Joycors

Lore from the Larder

Orange Omelette for Harlots and Ruffians

Take eggs and break them, with oranges, as many as you like; squeeze their juice and add to it the eggs with sugar; then take olive oil or fat, and heat it in the pan and add the eggs. This was for ruffians and brazen harlots.

Le 'Registre de Cuisine' de Jean de Bockenheim, cuisinier du pape Martin V" edited by Bruno Laurioux. Full citations may be found in The Medieval Kitchen.

Redaction:

6 eggs
2 oranges
1 lemon
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons olive oil
salt

Juice the oranges and the lemon. Beat the eggs, add the juice, the sugar, and salt to taste, and cook the omelette in olive oil. Serve warm.

Johannes Bockenheim (or Buckehen) was cook to Pope Martin V and in the 1430s wrote a brief but highly original cookbook recently edited by Bruno Laurioux (see bibliography). This German, who lived at Rome, wrote as a professional, with telegraphic terseness and little detail; yet he was careful to specify the destined consumer of each recipe, pigeon-holed by social class—from prostitutes to princes—or by nationality: Italian, French, German from any of various provinces, and so forth.

We cannot see why this omelette, which contains no meat and no seasoning other than sugar, should be particularly well suited to debauchees. Surely, it is flesh (further fired by spices) that enflames the flesh. This omelette can be safely tasted without running the risk of moral turpitude.

Since medieval oranges were bitter, we suggest a blend of oranges and lemons. The sugar and the acidity of the juice prevent the eggs from completely setting, so this is more of a custardy cream that makes an unusual and very pleasant dessert.

OUR KINGDOM WAR SONG

by lady scholastica joycors

In 2016 at the request of our then Warrior Queen Thora a new song was created called Song of the Waves-Atlantia to War to be learned by the populace for Pennsic. Lord Gideon up Stephen adapted the Song of the Wain by Garraed Galbraith's and tailored it for our kingdom. According to Gideon we are only the second kingdom to do so. You will find the tune and lyrics quite catchy making it easy to learn. Lord Gideon has created what he terms a learning video that can be found on YouTube (<https://youtu.be/-DhgTp5MAWY>) You can even download the song as a mp3 to play or as a video with the lyrics. Below are the lyrics and placed them here so you can add it to your book of

SONG OF THE WAVES — ATLANTIA TO WAR

based on Garraed Galbraith's Song of the Wain
adapted by Lord Gideon ap Stephen

*Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

Our King sets eyes on foreign fields
To ever stand and never yield
To bend their knees and break their shields
This day we sail to war.

*And it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

With Azure Banners now unfurled
Our Thanes take up the challenge hurled
And we prepare to leave this world
Our King must have his War.

*So it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

The longships piled deep and wide
We ride the waves from side to side
No shore can stand or stern the tide
Of Atlantia to war.

*So it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

We warriors of the Salt and Stone
At battle's end we stand alone
Upon this field of blood and bone
Our King commands this War.

*So it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

Lord Odin guide us 'cross the sea
To fulfill this destiny
Into the arms of Valkyries
Allfather bless this war.

*So it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

Join voices with the raven's cry
Swear one last oath to sea and sky
Valhalla's doors are swingin' wide
We'll see you at the War.

*So it's: Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

*Heave ho, and away we go
Rowin' faster, rowin' faster
Heave ho, and away we go
Atlantia to war.*

THINGS TO DO AT PENNSIC

by Lady Katharine of Caithness

1. Camp with friends. Life in camp is always nicer with your best friends about you.
2. Take the bus all the way around it's route at least once, only then will you have an idea of how large an area Pennsic covers.
3. Go to as many classes as you can. Not only will you learn more about your favorite subject you will meet lots of interesting people who share your interests.
4. See at least one battle on the battle field. It is SCA warfare at its most impressive. You will get a real feel for what warfare was like in medieval times and best of all everyone who gets killed gets up at the end and with only their pride hurt with a few bruises.
5. Take a trip or two to the food court. There you will find just about any kind of food you could want.
6. Walk about and visit other groups camps you may not only get something to eat you may be invited to sample some of their home brewed/made beer and wine.
7. Go for a walk about in the merchant area. You will need to know the layout.
8. Attend court. It is perhaps the only time when all the barons, baroness and royalty of the kingdom of Atlantia are together on one platform at the same time.
9. Attend at least one party. There are plenty always going on.
10. Take in a evening stage performance or two. The singing groups are first rate and the comedy and acting is not too shabby either.
11. Go and take in Midnight Madness (no this is not the Rocky Horror Picture Show movie being shown at midnight). This is shopping Scadian style. Even if you don't buy anything, the street performances, music and food are worth the walk.
12. Stop by the archery range. Yes it is out of the way but it is very impressive seeing so many archers shooting, especially if you happen by when they are doing a clout shoot.
13. Do remember where you are camped. There are no street lights at Pennsic so bring a flashlight to get around after dark.
14. Go by the thrown weapons range. Why? Same reason as archery.
15. Pick up a postcard when they become available from the Pennsic Post Office and send it to yourself. They have a special post mark for each year. It is one of the cheapest memories you can buy, But years from now it will be priceless.

16. Go to Coopers Camp store and get some of the locally produced chocolate milk. (unless you are lactose intolerant) it is some of the best tasting you will have.
17. Stop by and see the street performers, along the various places on your way to coopers store.
18. Stop by and try the Mist tent. Best done when you are hot and sweating in your garb. Most refreshing
19. Go to Heralds Points and observe the heralds consulting with clients about names and devices. It is very interesting to see how they research a name and device. While things can get a bit tense and they are testy with one another at times it is amazing what they are able to do. And if per chance you are having trouble getting that name or device approved this is the place to go.
20. Finally Have A Wonderful Time. No two Pennsic's are ever the same and you will not pass this way again so go out and as Auntie Mame said " Live Live Live!"
